

Kobe University Graduate School of Law
International Workshop

The Boundaries between International and Domestic Law

Date: 20 May 2018 (Sun)/ Time: 10:00-17:00

Venue: Kobe University Graduate School of International Cooperation Studies,
Building V (No.40 of this map), 1F, Main Conference Room

(神戸大学国際協力研究科 1 階大会議室)

9:45-10:00-10:10	Registration Welcome & Introduction
Part I: Interaction between International and Domestic Law (Moderator: Yukio Okitsu)
10:10-11:00	Keynote Speech 1 Takehisa Nakagawa (Kobe University) “Changing Roles of ‘Borders’ in Deciding the Scope of Governmental Regulation”
11:20-12:20	Coffee Break
11:20-12:20	Mari Takeuchi (Kobe University) “Domestic Implementation of Non-Binding International Norms: The Case of FATF Recommendations” Miharu Hirano (Kobe University) “Interpretation or Magic? The Metamorphosis of Water-related Good Practices into International Legal Rules” Hironichi Matsuda (International Christian University) “Constitutional Obligation to Faithfully Observe International Norms: Article 98(2) of the Japanese Constitution”
12:20-12:50	Comments & Discussion
12:50-14:00	Lunch Break
Part II: Identifying / Rethinking the Boundaries (Moderator: Mari Takeuchi)
14:00-14:40	Yukio Okitsu (Kobe University) “International Administrative Law Revisited from an Administrative Law Perspective” Satoshi Yamada (Okayama University) “Constitution in the Era of Globalization”
14:40-15:10	Comments & Discussion
15:10-15:30	Coffee Break
15:30-16:20	Keynote Speech 2 Jean d’Aspremont (The University of Manchester/SciencesPo Paris) “The Idea of Limit in International Legal Thought and Practice”
16:25-17:00	Wrap-up & Conclusion

*Lunch buffet and light refreshments will be provided.

Admission free, but please book by 17 May 2018 at <https://goo.gl/forms/2LRFzsa7M84IirI3>

This is a paperless conference. Materials will be shared digitally.

Contact: maritake@port.kobe-u.ac.jp